

332B2

Damascus was conquered
by Alexander the Great

332BC- AD 395

Egypt

Is reco - Roman Period

332 BC

Egypt

Graeco-Roman Period
Starts: 332 BC
Ends: AD 395

Roman Conquest 30 BC.

332 BC

Alexander the Great conquered Egypt

332 ~ 30 B C

Greek period

Egypt

Alexander + Ptolemaia

332 BC

Palestine became part of the empire of Alexander

332.3C

Alexander the Great Conquered
Every Israel

332AC

SIEGE OF TYRE.

The city of TYRE was on an island protected by a land and naval force, but was reduced to ruins by Alexander and the people sold as slaves. This destroyed the power of Persia on the sea.

3328C

Alexander the Great conquered
Egypt

332 BC

Conquest of Egypt

Alexander marched to Egypt & received it without any resistance. He founded the city of Alexandria

332 BC.

Alexander conquered Egypt

332BC

Alexander the Great captured
Phoenicia

C 332BC
384-322BC

1912 Dates J-BK

Work on logic, metaphysics, natural science, ethics, politics, rhetoric and poetics

published now in over 30 volumes
by ARISTOTLE (384-322BC)
the founder of the PERIPATETIC school of philosophy.

332 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

TYRE

Was captured by Alexander the Great after a 7 mos siege.

332BC

332^{BC} After Alexander captured Gaza, he came to Jerusalem. The people and JADUA, the High Priest received him with great ceremony. Alexander offered sacrifices at the Temple & granted the people favors. (Probably a legend)

He hurried to Egypt leaving the conquest of the territory inland to his general PARMENION who had no difficulty subduing the country

332-331 BC

Alexander remained in Egypt which welcomed him as a liberator during the winter of 332-331 BC. On the outermost tip of the Nile delta he founded the city of Alexandria. At its foundation, Alexander guaranteed to the Jews the same rights as accorded his own countrymen. This provision, carried on by his successors, led to Alexandria subsequently becoming one of the great reservoirs of Jewish life and culture.

TYRE

Alexander's special engineering said began to construct a causeway to the island. It took the Moundmies 7 months to gain the city &
when they did, 7000 were slain outright - 2000 young men crucified and 30,000 sold into slavery.

Alexander III (Magnus) after Tyre continued South neutralizing Persian allies into Egypt.

Here he was met with a riotous welcome. Egypt had been a vassal of Persia (off & on) for nearly 200 years. In Memphis, the Capital, Alexander was recognized as Pharaoh. He visits SUSA

the temple of Zeus - Roman (Early in 33/BC